

the 50th year...

... the EGL in 1981

Fifty years of tradition.

The number of years is but a small part of the story.

The real story, the real substance, the real and full cause for celebration are the people who keep it going strong...

...the people out pushing raffle tickets well beyond their share.

...the people planning and organizing social events that may or may not be fulfilled.

...the people devising schedules, setting fees, arranging parties, inventing contests, deciphering scores, publishing memos so that the game of golf is that much more fun.

...the people writing letters, confirming reservations, planning banquets, buying prizes, observing budgets, conducting auctions, chasing driven balls left and right, all to make the outing the high point of the year.

...the people who manage to do it all and still have their own good time.

To those people this book is dedicated.

thing "cool and refreshing"

TWO OF SOUTHMOOR'S MAJOR OBSTACLES

● This one's hard to stay out of!

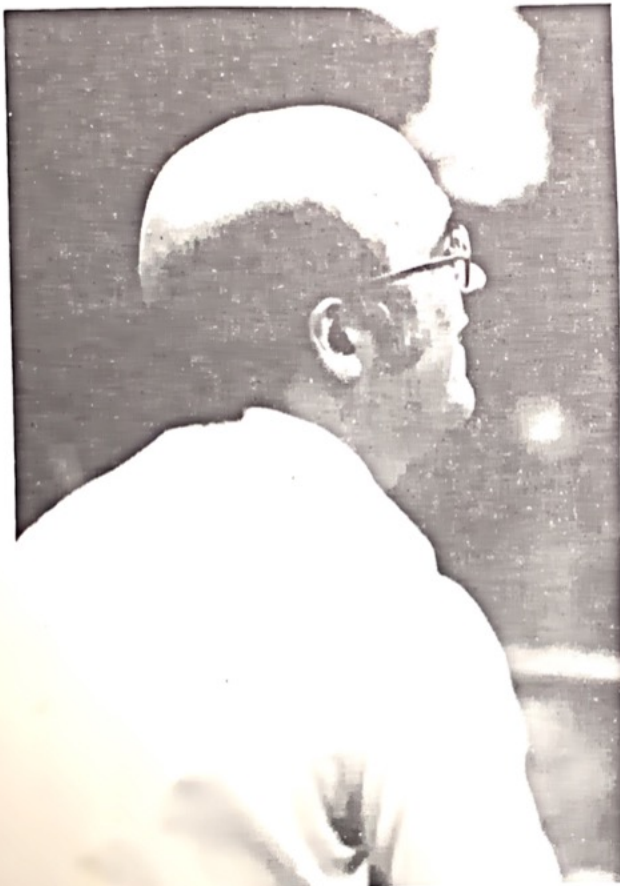

● This one's hard to stay inside of!

A CLASSIC SEQUENCE OF NON EVENTS

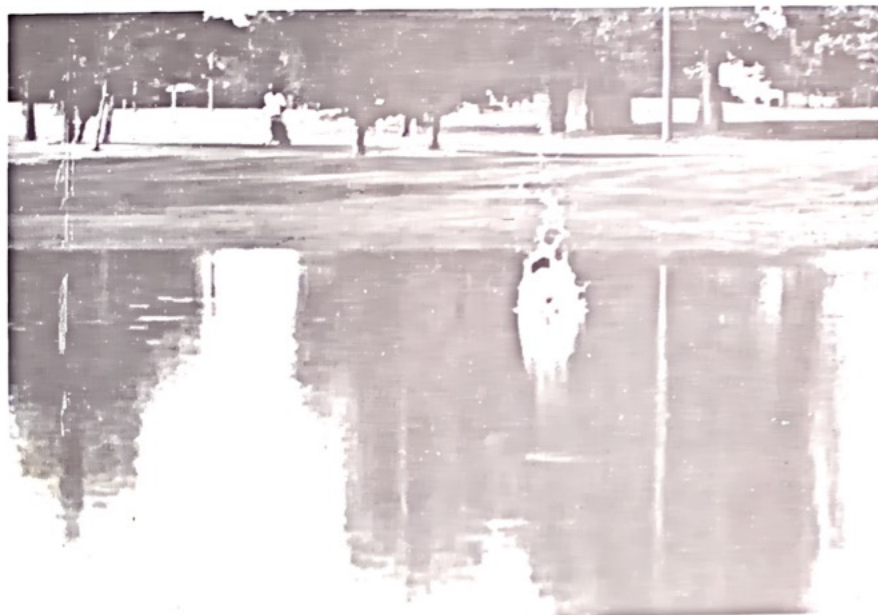

1. Bob Hind in full concentration. Larry Cooper observing.

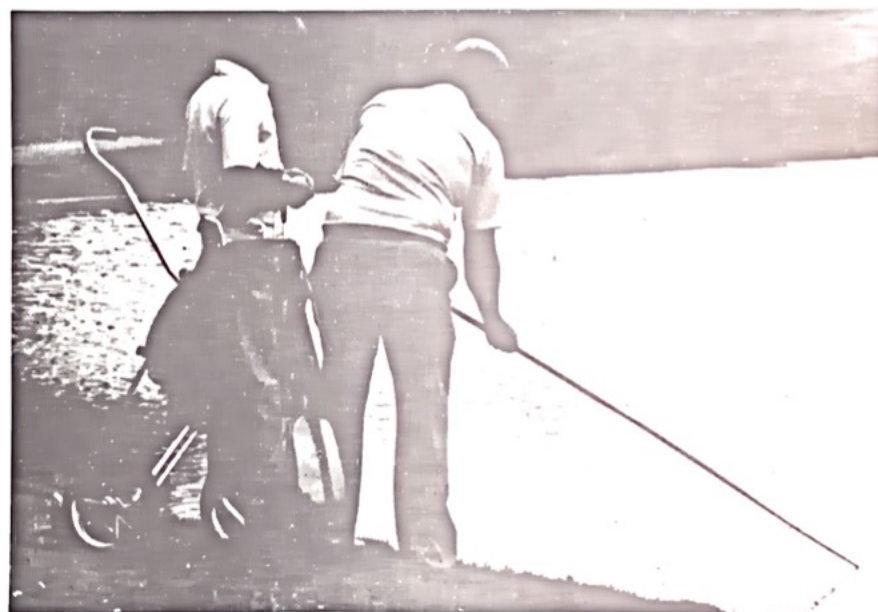

2. After Bob's valiant effort Larry is seen closely following the ball's trajectory

3. Larry showing some concern.

4. A noble effort is forever tarnished.

5. Larry and Bob trying to retrieve Bob's wayward orb.

at season's end,

With the last of the valiant efforts...

...and the final "experts" huddle...

a celebration!

...and the fans marvel at the closing moments of play,

the competitors relax with smiles of pleasure.

I said PLEASURE, not HYSTERIA.

Witnesses report seeing Tom "Termite" Herman at the site of 10 damaged trees. It seems that Tom prefers to struggle with tree trunks rather than blades of grass. "Fewer of them", he says.

We suggest Tom spend some time at the Bill Handley School of Golf and Forestry. Bill's approach to trees on the course is more abrupt than most, as displayed on #16. Bill's ball came to rest in such a position as to make a backswing impossible without hooking the club in an innocently bystander tree. With a few well-aimed "practice swings" the tree bid farewell to one of its branches and Bill was free to continue his game.

Bob and Rahe

Nothing comedic about this team, as they sparkled their way to a 59 team net. Gentleman Bob Atkinson five-ironed the opposition into submission with a 39 gross, or a 25 net! Teammate Jim "Sting" Rahe played the perfect supporting role with an impressive 52 gross, or 34 net. A stunning performance..

Mistaken Identity???

What was first considered a case of mistaken identity or coincidence has now got to be listed as cause for some concern. It seems that on not one, but two separate occasions, two EGL members mistook one male EGL member for two different female league members as they were traveling down opposite fairways. If this sounds confusing to you, how do you think it appears to John H??.

Pole-Lite

Again this past week, another daring EGL'er decided to tangle with a light pole. However, not all of these pole situations must be a case of flirting with disaster. Consider this little gem by "Mr. Easy", Joe "Ro" Rolecki. On hole #16, after a "worm burner" drive right down the middle, Ro's long approach shot pulled left, hit a light pole, and bounced toward the green. When asked if he would like to take the shot over, Joe calmly replied, "no way, us "poles" have got to stick together".

The Silent Swing

There is absolutely no truth to the rumor that Doug Golla's teammates are raising funds to buy him longer clubs. That's just whiff-ful thinking.

Take A Bough

This week's Wickes Lumber Award goes to Lon Rorick, who attempted to fell two trees with one shot on #4. His tee shot left the club at an ultra-conservative angle, screamed through one tree, veered into another, and came to rest on the #12 green. If the EGL ever opens a "branch" office, Lon will take the job.

Only In The EGL...

"Handsome" Handley hits a 51, handing 14 points to the opposition.

Kevin Keener is so stunned by his scorecard that he falls off the bench into the flowers. And that's before the 19th hole.

Dave Norton holds up play a full 60 seconds so the right gust of wind nudges his ball into the cup on #16. Dave, when it's for par, you can only wait 30 seconds - for birdie it's 60 seconds - for eagle, a week.

Steve Erickson wins an all-expenses-paid trip to Gaines by hitting the Hawaii sign from the #1 tee.

The clouds spat a mumbling chorus
And proved that our clothing was porous
Ma Nature's wet weather
Left us wondering whether
We played on a lake or golf co-urse

The Gold Outing

56 brave EGL members assembled at a Holiday Inn camp in Kalamazoo to reaffirm the League's foundation...FELLOWSHIP! Lead by Outing Chairman Bill Mavredes and his band of scouts, and reinforcements, Bob Stone, Don Griffin, Marc Tate, Kent Hopkins, Chuck Hess, and General Ralph Cross, the EGL faced inclement weather (blazing sun), foul terrain (swamps, tall grass, burning sand), and toxic chemicals of many kinds (beer, wine, etc.).

Yet through it all EGL fellowship was preserved and strengthened. The battle won, following are moments captured from that infamous weekend. A SALUTE to fifty years of fellowship!
